WHY ATTEND?

Students gain valuable knowledge and experience in managing grazing lands in Kansas. Students who are interested in ranching, natural resources, ecology, livestock and wildlife will learn things to set them up for success in their college courses.

WHAT WILL YOU LEARN?

The Kansas Range Youth Camp is designed to give the students a basic understanding of what rangeland is, the components of rangeland ecosystems, and management of those systems. Students selected to participate should have a serious interest in rangeland management, rangeland ecology, or grazing animals.

Check with your local Conservation District for possible funding
